Dear Mr. Smith,
 I am sorry to hear

of some potentially, in case of need. "Newspapers just now begin to mention some 20 hospitals in Paris, where it was whispered a few days ago that the 'gathering' was to be a visit to the 'Sanctuary' (the 'Sanctuary' of the 'Sanctuary', with 20,000) or 50,000."

The American significantly adds: "Remember that access is not free."

TO PRINTERS!

We will sell cheap, an excellent Smith's Press, (will print a sheet 26x38) in perfect order, with rolling apparatus complete. A font of old Bourgeois and one of Minion will also be sold very low.

Will some of our subscribers bring us a good quarter of beef, or a fine fat hog—not too large—an subscription account. Poultry, but, and other provisions, will also be taken on subscription.

The secessionists of South Carolina are already quarrelling among themselves. The Legislature is at loggerheads about the mode of officer the army, and an irrepressible conflict is commencing between the democratic masses who demand a policy of political rights, and the arrogant aristocrats who wish to monopolize all power and give the Governor (to be elected from and by themselves) sovereign power. They will have trouble before they succeed in organizing their Palmetto, Lone Star Republic.

Things are working.—The effects of Lincoln's election are beginning to show themselves in political affairs. Even in Boston, that hotbed of Republicanism, a wholesome reaction has commenced. At the Mayoralty election held yesterday, Jos. W. Wightman, democratic and Union, was elected Mayor by a majority of 2,087! The vote was—Wightman 8,768; Moses Kimball, Republican, 6,681. The Union Democrats also elected a large majority of the City Council. This is a glorious sign. When Republicanism is at a discount in Boston, its power for mischief is drawing to an end.

Indiana Free Banks Threatened.—The Indianapolis banks yesterday threw out the notes of the following Free Banks—Brookville Bk., Brookville; Bank of Syracuse, Syracuse; Bank of Indiana, Michigan City; Indiana Reserve Bk., Kokomo; Bank of Connersville, and Hoosier Bank, Logansport.

CAUSE OF DISUNION.

In view of the present state of affairs, and the almost certainty which exists, that our glorious Union is about to be dissolved, by the secession of certain Southern States, which feel it impossible longer to remain united with the north, we have repeatedly endeavored to show that, however criminal the south, the north also was mainly to blame for precipitating the present crisis. The northern mind has been undergoing for some time a course of instruction that made it indifferent to all suggestions of compromise and patriotism, and which rather impelled it forward to a test of the strength of the Union, not caring much whether it yielded or not without the shock. The Springfield (Mass.) Republican, one of the leading Republican papers of the country, in speaking of the dissolution of the Union, says—and the truthfulness of what it says is endorsed by a religious journal of that state, the Boston Watchman and Reflector:

"The fact is not to be disguised that the feeling at the north, in respect to the Union, has considerably changed within a score of years. It is still the one of our rhetoricians and political managers to glorify in Union and hang it all about with a display of eloquent and patriotic phrases. But the people do not really feel as they used to, that the preservation of the Union is of infinite consequence to them and their children.

And why do the people of the North at this day feel in that way toward the Union? Simply because for years past they have been educated to feel indifferent as to the value of it to them and their children. They have been taught to believe that the freedom of the slave was of more importance than the continuance of the Union. The press, the pulpit, the school-house, the stump have all been used to inculcate the public mind in the free States with abhorrence of slavery as it exists in the Southern States. This slavery untried law, at the North, divided churches; has made hatred usury the place of kindness, and fraternal feeling yielded to sectional rancor, and is now harrying the Union to dissolution. How humiliating the thought. It should make the cheeks of every American burn with shame, to reflect that this Union is to be broken up—this experiment of the capacity of man for self-government to be pronounced a failure—merely and solely on account of negro slavery, which has existed before and since the foundation of our Government, and which is likely to continue after its dissolution.

The withdrawal from the Union of some half-dozen States by the 4th of March, may for all practical purposes be regarded as already accomplished. The disunion that is likely to follow, such an event, and the means of averting or modifying them, should receive prompt consideration. A great point is to keep the border States—Missouri, Tennessee, Kentucky, Virginia, Maryland, Delaware and North Carolina—from following the example of the Gulf States. That can be done by strengthening the influence of the Union-loving men in those States. And that can only be accomplished by removing all just cause of complaint that the South may have against the North. We must keep them bound to us by justice, kindness and interest. The President elect has it in his power, in this connection, to make for himself a name second only to that of Washington. Time will show whether he will do it.

CALIFORNIA ELECTION.—Lincoln has carried California by a majority of 642 over Douglas. Full election returns are received from every county in the State. The total vote is 119,597. Lincoln, 56,702; Douglas, 38,060; Breckinridge 34,041; Bell, 8,794.

FOR THE SENATE.—The State Sentinel says the Governor elect, Hon. Henry S. Lane, in a card to the faithful, announces that he is a candidate to succeed Dr. Fitch in the United States Senate. That he wants no office. He didn't want and doesn't want the office of Governor—the senatorship is the coveted prize. The Lieutenant-Governor elect, Hon. O. P. Morton, is in the same fix. He would never have accepted the second place on the ticket if he hadn't felt quite sure that the party would have rewarded him, as he ought to be, by making him Senator. And so goes this irresistible conflict.

The Mainet Ball last night turned out to be a success, pecuniarily, and we are sure all who participated in the affair were "satisfied," although they were not all S. M. C. Dukes, princes, Indians, priests, Turks, Chinese, and all classes and grades of humanity, mingled together upon a perfect equality, and "tripped the lighter fantastic toe" to the music of Lefler's band, until an early hour in the morning. The ball passed off pleasantly, and nothing occurred to mar its harmony. We understand Prof. Cushman purposes giving another fancy dress ball in a short time.

THE BEGINNING OF THE END.—The Springfield correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial (rep.) says Lincoln has had numerous calls from men who voted for him, who earnestly urge him to resign, and save the country from the evils his election threatens to bring on it. He also receives letters every day to the same effect. What a commentary this is on Republicanism, when the members of that party so soon seek to undo what they have so recently accomplished.

That sensation item in the Fort Wayne papers some weeks since, in regard to a woman of this county, throwing boiling water into a churn, into which a little girl unnoticed by the mother had placed her infant, scalding it to death, and the mother in the frenzy of the moment inflicting a death blow upon the other, is wholly without foundation.

So says the Decatur Eagle, and we presume it is right. We thought at the time it seemed a very incredible story, but we had it on what we deemed good authority, and our informant said he had the story direct from an Adams County man who was at the funeral of the victims.

CHRISTMAS FESTIVAL.—The ladies of the English Lutheran Church will have a grand Fair and Supper at Colerick's Hall, on Friday and Saturday evenings, Dec. 21st and 22nd. They are now busy at work preparing all kinds of beautiful fancy articles, and will have a tempting display on their stalls. As to the supper we do not think it necessary to speak. The untrussed taste and skill in such matters, on the part of those ladies, renders any commendation superfluous. The proceeds will be applied towards defraying the expense of the next passage recently erected. We trust they will be liberally patronized.

Amort keeps his Boston Store always well filled with the best and newest styles of goods—everything really good, neat, fashionable, or desirable can be found on his shelves; and what is more to the point these hard times, he sells remarkably low. It is unquestionably one of the best and cheapest stores in the state—a fact which accounts for the vast amount of goods continually sold there.

Dedication of the NEW CATHEDRAL.

The Cathedral of which we gave an account several weeks ago, was dedicated yesterday by the Rev. Rev. Bishop Luter. At ten o'clock the Bishop accompanied by Very Rev. Father Benoit, V. G., and several other clergymen, proceeded to bless the Cathedral according to the form prescribed by the Catholic Church. After the blessing the doors were thrown open and the large concourse of people entered the church. The Bishop said Mass, and Rev. Mr. Lawler, of LaPorte, preached the dedication sermon. The singing of the choir was excellent, and effective, although the organ now in use is not of sufficient compass to fill the church, and is soon to be replaced by a more powerful one.

At the collection that was made for the Cathedral, the congregation showed their accustomed liberality. At 7 o'clock in the evening the Bishop proceeded, after mentioning in appropriate terms the energy and tact of Father Benoit, to whom we are chiefly indebted for the speedy erection of the Cathedral, and bestowing merited praise on the untiring zeal of the building committee, and on the liberality of the citizens, he delivered a solid and impressive discourse on the Festival that day.

The Catholics of the city have reason to congratulate themselves upon having such a fine structure as a place of worship, in which the economies of their church may be performed with the impressive solemnity that attracts even those who do not attach the same importance to them that Catholics do—and the citizens in general can felicitate themselves at having contributed to the erection of so beautiful a monument to ornament the city.

His Grace, the Roman Catholic Archbishop of New York, has received a silver medal from his Holiness the Pope, in acknowledgment of the zeal and liberality with which the Catholics of his diocese have come to the aid of the Holy See, in its present trials and embarrassments. The medal bears on its face the profile of the Pope, and on the reverse the inscription in Latin of the multitude of believers—one heart and one soul.

REVENUE CASE.—Tested in the District Court—This case that has attracted so much attention for several months, was brought to a close yesterday by a verdict in favor of Mrs. Birch. Her counsel gave notice that they should apply for alimony and the custody of the two children.

GOVERNMENT IN THE POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT.—We received the following notice yesterday from a Postmaster in relation to a paper sent to his office. While we regret the exigencies of the times and stern necessity which compels the Postmaster-General to discontinue service on the important route referred to, our readers will agree with us that the reasons given are amply sufficient to justify us in discontinuing the paper.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Dec. 8, 1860.
THOMAS TUCKER,
Editor of Sentinel.

Sir:—Will you have the kindness to discontinue the Fort Wayne Sentinel addressed Charles Hardman, Kalamazoo, Michigan. It is not taken from this office as Mr. Hardman is dead and gone. We would send it him, but Mr. M. General in his anxiety to curtail expenses has discontinued service on the route to distant spirits.

Yours, respectfully,
E. W. D. P. M.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.—We learn that the Store House, with its entire contents, of Alexander Campbell of Antwerp, Ohio, was destroyed on Sunday night. Amount of loss not ascertained. The stock of goods was insured.

The coal mine around Rockport, Ind., covers an area of 1,300 acres; it is capable of yielding 326,000,000 bushels of coal annually to $26,000,000.

Union Meeting at Philadelphia.—A grand Union meeting was held in Philadelphia on the 13th, attended by upwards of 10,000 persons, including most of the prominent citizens and business men of the city. A series of appropriate and conciliatory resolutions were adopted, including one for a general convention from all the States, to be held in Independence Hall, about 135,000.

THE MASSACHUSETTS LAW PHASE.—The Cambridge correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial (rep.) says Lincoln has had numerous calls from men who voted for him, who earnestly urge him to resign, and save the country from the evils his election threatens to bring on it. He also receives letters every day to the same effect. What a commentary this is on Republicanism, when the members of that party so soon seek to undo what they have so recently accomplished.

REVENUE CASE.—Tested in the District Court—This case that has attracted so much attention for several months, was brought to a close yesterday by a verdict in favor of Mrs. Birch. Her counsel gave notice that they should apply for alimony and the custody of the two children.

GOVERNMENT IN THE POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT.—We received the following notice yesterday from a Postmaster in relation to a paper sent to his office. While we regret the exigencies of the times and stern necessity which compels the Postmaster-General to discontinue service on the important route referred to, our readers will agree with us that the reasons given are amply sufficient to justify us in discontinuing the paper.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Dec. 8, 1860.
THOMAS TUCKER,
Editor of Sentinel.

Sir:—Will you have the kindness to discontinue the Fort Wayne Sentinel addressed Charles Hardman, Kalamazoo, Michigan. It is not taken from this office as Mr. Hardman is dead and gone. We would send it him, but Mr. M. General in his anxiety to curtail expenses has discontinued service on the route to distant spirits.

Yours, respectfully,
E. W. D. P. M.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.—We learn that the Store House, with its entire contents, of Alexander Campbell of Antwerp, Ohio, was destroyed on Sunday night. Amount of loss not ascertained. The stock of goods was insured.

The coal mine around Rockport, Ind., covers an area of 1,300 acres; it is capable of yielding 326,000,000 bushels of coal annually to $26,000,000.

Union Meeting at Philadelphia.—A grand Union meeting was held in Philadelphia on the 13th, attended by upwards of 10,000 persons, including most of the prominent citizens and business men of the city. A series of appropriate and conciliatory resolutions were adopted, including one for a general convention from all the States, to be held in Independence Hall, about 135,000.

THE MASSACHUSETTS LAW PHASE.—The Cambridge correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial (rep.) says Lincoln has had numerous calls from men who voted for him, who earnestly urge him to resign, and save the country from the evils his election threatens to bring on it. He also receives letters every day to the same effect. What a commentary this is on Republicanism, when the members of that party so soon seek to undo what they have so recently accomplished.

That sensation item in the Fort Wayne papers some weeks since, in regard to a woman of this county, throwing boiling water into a churn, into which a little girl unnoticed by the mother had placed her infant, scalding it to death, and the mother in the frenzy of the moment inflicting a death blow upon the other, is wholly without foundation.

So says the Decatur Eagle, and we presume it is right. We thought at the time it seemed a very incredible story, but we had it on what we deemed good authority, and our informant said he had the story direct from an Adams County man who was at the funeral of the victims.

CHRISTMAS FESTIVAL.—The ladies of the English Lutheran Church will have a grand Fair and Supper at Colerick's Hall, on Friday and Saturday evenings, Dec. 21st and 22nd. They are now busy at work preparing all kinds of beautiful fancy articles, and will have a tempting display on their stalls. As to the supper we do not think it necessary to speak. The untrussed taste and skill in such matters, on the part of those ladies, renders any commendation superfluous. The proceeds will be applied towards defraying the expense of the next passage recently erected. We trust they will be liberally patronized.

Amort keeps his Boston Store always well filled with the best and newest styles of goods—everything really good, neat, fashionable, or desirable can be found on his shelves; and what is more to the point these hard times, he sells remarkably low. It is unquestionably one of the best and cheapest stores in the state—a fact which accounts for the vast amount of goods continually sold there.

Dedication of the NEW CATHEDRAL.

The Cathedral of which we gave an account several weeks ago, was dedicated yesterday by the Rev. Rev. Bishop Luter. At ten o'clock the Bishop accompanied by Very Rev. Father Benoit, V. G., and several other clergymen, proceeded to bless the Cathedral according to the form prescribed by the Catholic Church. After the blessing the doors were thrown open and the large concourse of people entered the church. The Bishop said Mass, and Rev. Mr. Lawler, of LaPorte, preached the dedication sermon. The singing of the choir was excellent, and effective, although the organ now in use is not of sufficient compass to fill the church, and is soon to be replaced by a more powerful one.

At the collection that was made for the Cathedral, the congregation showed their accustomed liberality. At 7 o'clock in the evening the Bishop proceeded, after mentioning in appropriate terms the energy and tact of Father Benoit, to whom we are chiefly indebted for the speedy erection of the Cathedral, and bestowing merited praise on the untiring zeal of the building committee, and on the liberality of the citizens, he delivered a solid and impressive discourse on the Festival that day.

THE CHILDREN'S GIFT-A CHRISTMAS STORY.

BY VIRGINIA F. TOWNSEND.

"Oh, Mother! Mother!" panted Edward and Ida Reynolds, as they burst into the sitting room on their return from school. "We're going to have an exhibition, Christmas night, at the academy, and there is to be a stage built, and we're to speak there."

"One at a time—come at a time, my dear children," said Mrs. Reynolds, as she removed Ida's hood, and smoothed Edward's short, crisp locks, which had the most provoking inclination to tangle themselves over his eyes.

But the two voices, scarcely pausing for the mother's warning, struck up simultaneously again; but Edward, was soon obliged to yield to Ida, (I believe girls usually come off victor in these verbal struggles), and she went on:

"We are to have a piano, and Miss Hall is to play it; and we are all to sing together, and to speak poems and dialogues; and the girls are to wear white dresses, with blue ribbons around their waists. Oh, mother, goody! And she danced about the room, her bright braids flashing about her neck, and her eyes shining in her young face like twinkling lights; and her mother watched her with tender, loving smile which makes the face of a mother beautiful and sacred, no other faces are."

"We are to have a good deal of business matters, today. I'll forget all about it now."

"And remember that Christmas is close at hand, and those dear children must have something for the occasion."

"Well, what shall it be?"

"Oh, the first place, they must each have a new suit for the anniversary. Their little heads are full of nothing else, from morning until night."

"I suppose not, happy little rogues that they are. Well, that is all."

"Oh, no, you can't afford them a Christmas tree this year, but you can give them, or they'll be quite heart-broken."

"What shall it be, then?"

"Eddie must have a sled, for he's been longing for one the last month, and I daresay."

"They shall have these, but I can't do any more for them this Christmas, for times seem to be growing tighter and tighter, and we must count every dollar."

"So I will; but you know children are children, Father, and I'd rather go without my dinner for a week than have Christmas come without any gifts for them."

"Spoken like the true, loving Mother that you are, Annie," said Mr. Reynolds; and then he sat very still, thinking. God will have a heart, that never over clouds of adversity might darken about him for a time, he had still three jewels, which all the gold in the world could not buy—his wife, his boy, and his girl!

"Why, Ida, my child, what has kept you so long? Eddie's been home half an hour, and I really begin to be alarmed at your absence," exclaimed Mrs. Reynolds, as her daughter came in from school, just as the night shadows were hovering themselves down through the short December day.

"Well, Mother, I didn't mean to stay so long; but I stayed to talk with Ellen Payne."

"And you the best taking care of oh, daughter!" said Mrs. Reynolds, looking at her.

Ida came up to her mother and laid her head in her lap. Her face was flushed with excitement, and the tears came in her eyes.

"Oh, Mamma, if you could have heard her you would have been so sorry!"

"What was it, my child?"

"Why, you see, I was late this evening, because I stayed behind to put my desk in order, and when I came out in the dressing-room I heard a deep, quick sob, and looking round in the corner, I saw Ellen Payne crouched down there, crying as if her heart would break. I went right up to her and put my arms around her. 'What is the matter, Ellen?' I said. She wouldn't tell me for a long time, only she cried the louder; but I begged and coaxed her until at last she looked up and said, so sorrowfully, 'I can't go to the anniversary, Mamma!'

"Why? Why not, Ellen?"

"Because, you know, we've been poor folks ever since Father died; and last week the baby was taken sick with the croup, and Mamma had to spend all the money he'd earned saving to buy him some medicine, so she can't get a new dress."

"Oh, dear, Ida, it must break my heart to see all the other little girls getting ready to speak and sing! Here Ida completely broke down, and tears ran over her soft cheeks."

"Oh, Ida, I wouldn't be such a girl as to cry, anyhow!" and Edward, who had listened eagerly to every word which his sister had spoken, rose and went hurried to the window and laid his face against the pane in a very suspicious manner.

"Mamma! Mamma! I want Ellen to go to the anniversary. I shall be happy a bit if she isn't there, too."

"My dear child, I know what you mean, and I would gladly get her a dress, too, but Papa is very much troubled just now, for want of money, and I don't like to take another dollar from his business."

"Oh, dear, isn't there any way?" pleaded the soft voice, face of Ida Reynolds.

"Yes, my dear little Ellen, there is one way, and I have just thought of it, but it requires a great sacrifice on your part and Eddie's."

"Oh, tell us what it is!" simultaneously cried the children.

"Last night Papa gave me four dollars for my Christmas gifts, and with this money I had resolved to get a new sled for Eddie, and a new wax doll for Ida; now, shall I change my mind and buy a new dress and a new doll for Ellen Payne?"

A struggle went over the children's faces. "I don't want to go without the wax doll, Mamma."

"And I will go without the new sled, I believe!" said Eddie.

"I do, and the heart of little Ellen Payne was made to sing like a spring robin in its morning lull; and in after years Edward and Ida Reynolds used to say that, of all the Christmas gifts which strong themselves, like shining jewels, through the memory of their childhood, that one on which they went without any Christmas gifts, was the brightest, the merriest—Home Magazine.

THRILLING NARRATIVE OF THE LOSS OF THE JERSEY CITY.

THE SAILING OF THE LOSS OF THE JERSEY CITY.

The sad details of the loss of the propeller Jersey City, after the afternoon of Saturday, the 24th of November, have long been received. The annals of lake disasters present few incidents that can compare in intensity of horror with the simple narrative of the survivors of the wreck. Barely have there been scenes suffering and acts of true heroism that could equal the tragedy enacted on Long Point beach.

The story, as narrated by the survivors to one of our citizens who went after the body of the lamented Mr. A. H. Derby, is substantially as follows:

The propeller Jersey City, Capt. Monroe, from Toledo, bound for Buffalo, was out in the great gale of Friday and Saturday, the 23rd and 24th of November. Finding it impossible to reach Buffalo in the storm, Capt. Monroe headed the steamer for Long Point, Canada, intending to take shelter behind it. Every one in this latitude will remember the terrible morning of Saturday, the 24th of November. The wind blew with relentless force, and the snow swept through the air, so thick that it could not be seen, and was so thick that objects at a like distance were invisible. About eleven o'clock in the morning, during a momentary lull in the snow cloud, Long Point was seen ahead, and Capt. Monroe discovered that he had been driven too far in the weather. The vessel was blown off her course, and the great gale of Friday and Saturday, the 23rd and 24th of November, was now upon her. The vessel was blown off her course, and the great gale of Friday and Saturday, the 23rd and 24th of November, was now upon her.
